LIXIL Group Corporation

Announcement Regarding Some News Reports Released Today

There were some news reports released today regarding corporate acquisition by LIXIL Group Corporation (hereinafter “LGC”). However this news is not based on any information announced by LGC. In recent years, the business environment of LGC has been rapidly changing, and LGC is considering possibilities of strategic expansion from various perspectives. Including the news reports released today, the possibility of corporate acquisition is not to be eliminated but is one of the options that LGC is considering. Regardless of implementing corporate acquisition or not, nothing has been decided at this point.

LGC will disclose information in a timely manner once the decision is made.
