Announcement Concerning Shutdown of Tokushima Tsuda Biomass Power Plant

RENOVA, Inc. (hereinafter "RENOVA") announces that Tokushima Tsuda Biomass Power Plant, which is owned by its consolidated subsidiary, Tokushima Tsuda Biomass Energy G.K., suspended operation on July 8, 2026, due to an abnormal pressure that occurred within the high-pressure turbine equipment during operation.

As a result of the inspection to date, damage to the steam control valve connected to the high-pressure turbine was confirmed. RENOVA announces that it has decided today to proceed with parts repair in preparation for the resumption of operation in July 2026 (planned).

Since this suspension of operation is within the scope of unscheduled suspension days anticipated in the initial plan for the entire biomass power generation business, there is no impact on the consolidated financial results forecast for the current fiscal year (ending March 31, 2027).

RENOVA will promptly disclose any other matters that should be announced as and when they arise.
