Nippon Prologis REIT Announces Non-existence Problem Regarding Seismic Isolators

On Mar. 13, 2015, the Ministry of Land, Infrastructure and Transport of Japan has revoked its quality certification for Toyo Tire & Rubber Co. Ltd.'s high-damping rubber, a seismic isolation architectural material, after the company falsified product performance data in its certification process. Accordingly, Nippon Prologis REIT, Inc. ("NPR") has examined its portfolio and confirmed that none of the properties owned by NPR was constructed with Toyo Tire's products.
