◆ Background and Outlook of the Brand Integration and Renewal

Since its founding in 2013, the Company has operated under its corporate philosophy: "Spark excitement and inspiration by fusing technology with innovation to propel the world forward." The Company's core business is the AI real estate investment service "RENOSY," which leverages technology to provide unique one-stop services for property purchase, management, and sale.

RW OpCo, LLC, founded in 2007, operates the real estate investment marketplace "Renters Warehouse." Primarily serving individuals and institutional investors in the United States, the platform functions as an online marketplace and currently operates in 18 states and 31 locations across the country.

The Company completed the consolidation of RW OpCo, LLC as a subsidiary in March 2024 and began providing real estate services in the U.S. market.[1] Since the fiscal year ending October 2025, the business has maintained strong performance, achieving quarterly profitability and growing rapidly to become the Company's third pillar of profit.[2]

The Company has now moved to rebrand its U.S. business from "Renters Warehouse" to "RENOSY by Renters Warehouse," aiming to drive further growth in the U.S. market and maximize group synergies. Through the full-scale expansion of "RENOSY" in the U.S. market, the Company looks to promote the adoption of services that enable reliable, seamless, and optimal asset formation through real estate in the country.
