GungHo Online Entertainment, Inc.

Regarding the release timing for Chinese version of “Puzzle & Dragons”

For “Puzzle & Dragons”, a puzzle RPG currently in service on iOS/Android™/Kindle Fire, GungHo Online Entertainment, Inc. (HQ location: Chiyodaku, Tokyo President & CEO: Kazuki Morishita) has been collaborating with Tencent, a Chinese leading comprehensive internet service provider, to create the Chinese version. A closed β testing was done with the goal of the official release within the year 2015; however, seeing the result, we had decided to continue its development in the first quarter of the fiscal year of 2016 (January to March 2016) in order to improve the game so it can entertain a wider audience over an even longer period of time.

We regret to cause any inconveniences to people involved in this project. We will announce any additional information as soon as when it's available.

*Closed β testing: A testing done by having a limited number of users to use a software application or a service under development.
