(2) Reasons

The Company's basic capital policy regarding shareholder returns is to ensure stable and continuous distribution of profits, while comprehensively considering operating results and the dividend payout ratio. Concurrently, the Company seeks to enhance shareholders' equity to stabilize and strengthen its financial foundation, actively allocating resources toward growth investments.

For the fiscal year ended April 30, 2026, although profitability was secured in our consolidated financial results following the previous fiscal year, the Company has determined it necessary to focus on the selection and concentration of its management resources in order to transition to the next stage of growth. Therefore, the Company deeply regrets to announce that it will pay no dividend for the period.

The Company sincerely apologizes to its shareholders and appreciates your continued support as it strives to resume dividend payments as early as possible.
