【2. About the TSE Growth Market 250 Index】

The TSE Growth Market 250 Index is a market capitalization-weighted stock price index comprising stocks selected by JPX Market Innovation & Research, Inc. from the constituents of the TSE Growth Market Index based on the market capitalization of listed shares. Constituents are reviewed annually, with changes taking effect on the last business day of October. (Note)

【3. Our Initiatives】

We regard achieving both sustainable growth and stable shareholder returns as a key management priority and pursue initiatives in business growth, shareholder returns and investor relations (IR).

(1) Business Growth We work to enhance corporate value through sustainable business growth.

(2) Shareholder Returns We emphasize stable shareholder returns, with a basic policy of paying dividends based on the dividend payout ratio.

(3) IR Activities We seek to engage in dialogue with shareholders and investors through activities such as presenting at company briefings for individual investors.

We view our selection for the index as one indication of market recognition of these initiatives. We will continue to enhance corporate value and shareholder value while proactively communicating information.

We appreciate the continued support of our shareholders and investors.

Note: Based on “Results of the Periodic Review of the TSE Growth Market 250 Index (Effective October 30, 2026) and List of Constituents,” published by JPX Market Innovation & Research, Inc. on October 7, 2026.
