Changes to the Method of Providing Shareholder Benefits

In conjunction with the enhancement of information security measures following the ongoing matter concerning the potential leakage of customer information, we have decided to revise the originally planned method of providing shareholder benefits, as described below. Please note that there will be no change to the discount rate of the shareholder benefit.

1. Details of the Change

For shareholder benefits based on shareholders of record as of August 31, 2026, we will discontinue the provision of electronic coupons and instead provide paper coupons (Shareholder Cards). Accordingly, the distribution schedule has also been revised. Shareholder Cards may be used at staffed checkout counters in MUJI stores only. They cannot be used at self-checkout counters or on the MUJI Online Store.

Item	Before	After
Distribution Date	Nov. 24, 2026	Dec. 11, 2026
Method	Electronic Coupon	Paper Coupon (Shareholder Card)
Validity	Dec. 1, 2026 - May 11, 2027	Dec. 11, 2026 - May 31, 2027

*The validity period has been extended to May 31, 2027, to ensure sufficient opportunity for shareholders to use the benefit.

2. Reason for the Change

We are currently implementing measures to strengthen information security. Although shareholder benefits for shareholders of record as of August 31, 2026 were initially scheduled to be provided through electronic coupons via MUJI App, we determined that it would be difficult to provide the service while fully ensuring security. Therefore, we have decided to provide paper coupons (Shareholder Cards), which can be used reliably by shareholders. This is a temporary measure applicable only to shareholder benefits for shareholders of record as of August 31, 2026. Subject to future system enhancements and confirmation of safety, electronic coupons are planned to resume from the next benefit program onward.
