note Integrates Google's Gemini 3 Pro into AI Assistant: Evolving to Further Empower Creator Activities

note has integrated Google's latest generative AI model, Gemini 3 Pro, into its AI Assistant. By utilizing a model that excels in understanding longer contexts and generating natural Japanese expressions, the process of consultation and brainstorming during writing has become smoother than ever.

From deriving themes and structural hints from rough notes or idea fragments, to consulting on clearer paraphrasing and expressions, the AI Assistant has evolved into a reliable partner that supports creators from the start of writing through to completion.

Now that AI can automatically generate text, the value of creation is shifting. It is no longer about writing quickly and in large quantities, but about how to shape unique perspectives, experiences, and worldviews that only individuals can express. Based on this shift, note supports the entire creative process so that creators can focus more on creation itself, even in the AI era.

Moving forward, we will continue to actively adopt the latest technologies alongside our shareholders and partner companies. We are committed to simultaneously building a creative environment for creators and establishing mechanisms to protect their rights and revenue.

Examples of AI Assistant Use Cases

Turning Vague Ideas into Actionable Plans

The AI extracts potential themes and structural hints from fragmented notes and keywords in your head. It acts as a partner, guiding users from the stage of "having a vague idea but not knowing where to start" to the point where they feel ready to begin writing.

Overcoming Writer's Block

When users struggle with writing or do not know how to begin, they can simply ask the AI Assistant, "I want to write about this content, but how should I start?" The AI will propose several opening patterns, allowing users to choose the one that suits them best to start writing.

Advice Based on Deep Understanding of Context

The AI provides consistent feedback based on a deep understanding of the article's overall flow and intent. It offers reader-oriented advice, such as "explain this part more carefully," to resolve hesitation and structural inconsistencies that often occur during writing.

About the AI Assistant

note's AI Assistant adopts Google's latest AI model, Gemini 3 Pro*. It supports a wide range of creator activities, including idea organization, expression improvement, and text structuring.
