Notice Concerning Discontinuation of Development for EA SPORTS FC™ TACTICAL

KLab Inc. (the "Company") has announced that it has decided to discontinue development of the soccer simulation game EA SPORTS FC™ TACTICAL (hereinafter referred to as the "Title"), which it has been working on in collaboration with Electronic Arts Inc. (hereinafter referred to as "EA"), a major U.S. game publisher, as follows.

Notes

1. Reason for discontinuation

Since signing the partnership agreement with EA, the Company has positioned this project as one of the important pillars of its business plan, and has been working towards an official release, conducting numerous tests to date, including closed beta tests, open beta tests, and the launch of distribution in select regions. However, after discussions with EA, the Company has decided to discontinue development of the Title.

While the Title is currently available in select regions, distribution is scheduled to cease on May 7.

In addition, as a result of this, the Company will be terminating its partnership agreement with EA.

Please understand that the Company is unable to provide further details regarding this matter due to its contractual confidentiality obligations with EA.

2. Impact on results

Regarding expenses related to the Title, the Company has been gradually reviewing its development and operation structure since the fiscal year ended December 2025 and has already reduced costs through measures such as transferring personnel to other projects. Furthermore, with regard to the software assets that had previously been recorded as development costs under intangible assets, as stated in the "Notice Concerning Recording of Extraordinary Loss \(Impairment Loss\)" disclosed on August 7, 2025, most of the assets have already been impaired, and no new impairment losses will be incurred going forward.

Based on the above, the Company expects the discontinuation of development and operation of the Title to have a minor impact on its consolidated financial results.

The Company will promptly announce any matters that need to be disclosed in the future.
