Notice Regarding the Impact on the Company's Earnings of a Service Suspension (Unauthorized Access) at a Business Partner

In October 2026, unauthorized access by a third party was discovered at Comic Cmoa, an eBook retailer operated by NTT Solmare Corporation, a major business partner of MEDIA DO Co., Ltd. (the "Company"), resulting in a temporary service suspension. The Company hereby provides the following information currently available regarding the impact of this incident on the Company.

1. Overview of the Incident

On Thursday, October 15, 2026, NTT Solmare Corporation determined that unauthorized access by a third party had likely occurred at its eBook retailer "Comic Cmoa" and decided to suspend the service to investigate the cause. As a result, the Company's content distribution and sales through this eBook retailer were temporarily suspended. Restoration work is currently progressing, and services have resumed except for certain functions. For details on the status of restoration, please refer to announcements by NTT Solmare Corporation.

No unauthorized access to the Company's systems, leakage of information held by the Company, or other damage arising from this incident has been confirmed.

2. Impact on the Company's Business and Earnings

Transactions with this eBook retailer were temporarily suspended due to this incident but have now resumed following the restoration of services. In addition, no serious impact from similar incidents on transactions with other eBook retailers has occurred at this time.

At this time, the impact of this incident on the Company's consolidated earnings for the fiscal year ending February 28, 2027 is not expected to meet the timely disclosure criteria for revisions to the earnings forecast.

3. Outlook

The Company will promptly announce any matters requiring disclosure that may arise regarding the impact of this incident on its consolidated earnings.
