Notice Concerning First Order for Large-Scale Battery Energy Storage System for the Overseas Market

PowerX, Inc. (the "Company") hereby announces that it has received an order from Elematec Corporation (Head Office: Minato City, Tokyo; Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of the Board: Koichi Okoshi), a member of the Toyota Tsusho Group, for a large-scale battery energy storage system to be used in Vietnam. This marks the first time that the Company's products will be supplied to an overseas market.

The Company develops and manufactures large-scale battery energy storage systems in Japan, and this order marks the first step in its expansion into overseas markets in Asia. Going forward, the Company will continue to expand its supply to overseas markets in collaboration with partners while contributing to a stable electricity supply and stronger energy security in the region.

1. Order Details

Products Ordered	Large-scale stationary battery energy storage system "PowerX Mega Power 2700" and peripheral equipment
Order Amount	Approximately JPY 1.7 billion
Customer	Elematec Corporation
Expected Timing of Revenue Recognition	Fiscal year ending December 2026

2. Outlook (Impact on Financial Results)

Revenue and profit from this order are expected to impact the Company's financial results for the fiscal year ending December 2026. However, at this time, the Company does not plan to revise its earnings forecast. If a revision to the earnings forecast becomes necessary due to this or other factors, the Company will promptly make an announcement.

This order is not included in the "probable orders" of JPY 2.2 billion scheduled for revenue recognition in fiscal year 2026, as stated on page 16 of the "FY2026 Q1 Financial Results Briefing," announced on May 14, 2026.
