Notice Regarding Capital Investment at Topre America Corporation, an Overseas Subsidiary

We hereby inform you that our Board of Directors resolved at its meeting today to make a capital investment at Topre America Corporation, our wholly owned consolidated subsidiary, as described below.

Details

1. Purpose

In the North American automotive market, demand for hybrid vehicles has been growing amid a reassessment of demand for electric vehicles and developments in environmental regulations. Japanese automakers are also taking steps to strengthen and optimize their production operations in North America.

To respond to these changes in market conditions and our major customers' plans to expand production, we have decided to build a new plant and make a capital investment in North America, a key region for our operations.

At the new plant, we will establish an integrated production system covering all stages from pressing to assembly and work to improve the efficiency of production and shipping operations.

We will put in place a system that allows us to respond flexibly to our customers' future production increases and business strategies. This will allow us to respond quickly to our customers' needs and further strengthen our relationships with them.
