Note 2. Appropriate use of business forecasts and other important information

The forecasts of dividend amount and business performance contained in this report have been made based on certain future assumptions, outlooks, and plans which are available at the HORIBA Group as of November 13, 2026. However, due to risks and various uncertain factors such as future business operation policies, changes in the economic environment in Japan and overseas, fluctuation of currency rates, it is possible that actual performance would vary considerably from the forecasts.

1. Qualitative Information Concerning Consolidated Results

(1) Information Concerning Consolidated Operating Results

(For details, see pages 10-12, "3. Supplemental Information - Financial Highlights for the Nine Months Ended September 30, 2026")

During the nine months ended September 30, 2026, HORIBA, Ltd. (hereinafter the Company) and its consolidated subsidiaries (hereinafter the HORIBA Group or HORIBA) increased sales by 22.3% year-on-year to 281,659 million yen and operating income increased by 51.2% to 50,673 million yen, mainly due to an increase in sales in "Materials & Semiconductor". Ordinary income increased by 51.8% to 52,172 million yen and net income attributable to HORIBA, Ltd.'s shareholders increased by 50.8% to 36,345 million yen.

The operating results of each business segment are summarized as follows.

(Energy & Environment Field)

Sales in the automotive-related business increased mainly in Japan, the Americas and Asia, supported by steady demand for combustion gas measurement for the development of hybrid and other vehicles. As a result, segment sales increased by 2.7% year-on-year to 88,319 million yen. On the profit side, operating income decreased by 15.4% year-on-year to 1,712 million yen due to lower profitability resulting from a decline in sales amid stagnation in automotive and hydrogen-related markets in Europe, among other factors.

(Bio & Healthcare Field)

Segment sales increased by 9.0% year-on-year to 32,150 million yen, mainly due to an increase in sales of hematology analyzers in Europe. While profitability improved due to an increase in sales of hematology analyzers, the segment posted an operating loss of 1,263 million yen, mainly due to higher expenses associated with continued investments in the life science field (compared to an operating loss of 1,320 million yen in the first nine months of FY2025).

(Materials & Semiconductor Field)

Segment sales increased by 40.4% year-on-year to 161,189 million yen, and operating income increased by 53.1% to 50,224 million yen, mainly due to an increase in sales to semiconductor production equipment manufacturers in Asia, driven by demand for semiconductors for AI and data centers.

(2) Information Concerning Consolidated Earnings Forecasts for FY2026

Our assumption for the exchange rate remains unchanged at 155 yen per US dollar and 180 yen per euro.

Consolidated forecasts of FY2026 (Full year)

Energy & Environment	9,000	8,000	-1,000
Bio & Healthcare	-500	-1,000	-500
Materials & Semiconductor	61,500	66,000	+4,500
Total	70,000	73,000	+3,000

Regarding consolidated earnings forecasts for FY2026, overall sales forecasts have been revised upward by 10,500 million yen to 392,500 million yen, while operating income forecasts have been raised by 3,000 million yen to 73,000 million yen. This increase in operating income forecasts has led to upward revision in ordinary income forecasts by 3,000 million yen to 74,000 million yen and forecasts for net income attributable to HORIBA, Ltd.'s shareholders by 1,500 million yen to 51,500 million yen.

By business segment, Materials & Semiconductor has revised upward its sales forecasts by 10,500 million yen and operating income forecasts by 4,500 million yen, taking into account the consolidated results for the first nine months of FY2026 and recent order trends. On the other hand, Energy & Environment has revised downward its operating income forecasts by 1,000 million yen, considering factors such as a decline in profitability resulting from lower sales amid sluggish conditions in the hydrogen-related market in Europe. In addition, Bio & Healthcare has revised downward its operating income forecasts by 500 million yen in light of higher expenses associated with increased investment in the life science field and other factors.

The dividend forecast for the current fiscal year remains unchanged.

Cautionary statement with respect to earnings forecasts

The forecasts of dividend amount and business performance contained in this report have been made based on certain future assumptions, outlooks, and plans which are available at the HORIBA Group as of November 13, 2026. However, due to risks and various uncertain factors such as future business operation policies, changes in the economic environment in Japan and overseas, and fluctuation of currency rates, it is possible that actual performance would vary considerably from the forecasts.

(3) Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Changes in the Scope of Consolidation or Application of the Equity Method

During the nine months ended September 30, 2026, a consolidated subsidiary of the Company acquired shares in Pristine Deeptech Private Limited (India), which was consequently included in the scope of consolidation.

HORIBA Australia Pty Ltd (Australia) and HORIBA Middle East Limited (the United Arab Emirates) were included in the scope of consolidation following their establishment.

BeXema GmbH (Germany), which was a consolidated subsidiary of the Company, was excluded from the scope of consolidation as it was dissolved in an absorption-type merger in which HORIBA FuelCon GmbH (Germany), a consolidated subsidiary of the Company, was the surviving company.

HORIBA Technology (Suzhou) Co., Ltd. (China) was excluded from the scope of consolidation following the sale of all of its shares held by HORIBA (China) Co., Ltd. (China), a consolidated subsidiary of the Company.

Application of special accounting for preparing quarterly consolidated financial statement

(Calculation method for tax expenses)

The Company and its domestic consolidated subsidiaries calculated income tax expenses by multiplying income before income taxes by reasonably estimated annual effective tax rate. This tax rate was reasonably estimated after applying the deferred tax accounting to the annual income before income taxes.

Material Subsequent Events

The Company, at a meeting of the Board of Directors held on November 13, 2026, resolved to conduct a five-for-one stock split of its common stock, effective January 1, 2027. For details, please refer to "Notice: Stock Split and Corresponding Partial Amendment to the Articles of Incorporation" disclosed today.
